October 15

YOUR SAY: Would you be willing to pay $109 on top of your car registration, to help provide compensation for road crash victims?

- Mathew Dodge Nope. Just make cyclists pay rego for using our roads
October 15 at 2:35pm
- Dale Roberts How about politicians take a pay cut instead of a pay rise every [REDACTED] year and use that money instead of just the good old take, take, take they seem to do to hard working tax payer every day, I bet they change the stance on that pretty quick
October 15 at 2:28pm
- Neenah Thomas Where and when is this poll???
Im 23 years old and i work 6-7 days a week to pay bills and to save up for my own home one day (trying to do things right). When i first bought my ralli art lancer they told me i could not take it without FULL insurance cover. Which is completely fair because of my age, the turbo engine etc etc. So i pay 3grand a year for insurance just to have my car and i have had it for 2 years completely accident free with no where near any collisions. Its the [REDACTED] idiots who CAN NOT drive that get behind the wheels of these cars and lose control. I personally (nor anyone else) should NOT be made responsible for someones stupidity and lack of education. On top of petrol increases, car repayments, insurance, rego's and whatever else- how can you take MORE? Soon itll be too hard to just live. Not fair.
October 15 at 3:13pm
- Daniel Avins U had to ave full insurance due to the fact car woulda been on finance.
October 15 at 7:25pm
- Jasmine McDonnell He may have paid cash :p
October 15 at 8:24pm
- Dave Burke

October 15 at 2:33pm

7. Karen Sullivan No choice :(

October 16 at 1:26am

8. Clive Humble No,I pay too much for car registration, insurance and tax on petrol as it is. Why do we pay 3rd party insurance for . Then another tax ? I don't think so !

October 15 at 2:22pm

9. Karen Sullivan Pollies have both their hands already in our pockets..., and a foot up our [REDACTED]

October 16 at 1:28am

10. Michelle Lee Cawley Make insurance compulsory simple. Why should we paymfor other peoples mistakes

October 15 at 2:57pm

11. Anne-Maria Colman Isn't it about time cyclists paid they get special paths etc

October 15 at 3:01pm

12. Lynn Wolfe This question doesn't even relate to cyclists, but since I already pay my car rego and general taxes, I already pay to use the road and the law says I can ride my bike on the road.

October 15 at 3:28pm

13. Anne-Maria Colman So maybe those people who ride bikes and don't have car registration should pay - and yes it does relate as only car users are being stung and others ie cyclists use the roads also

October 15 at 4:11pm

14. Joan Ward NO,,what of those road crash victims that were drunk or speeding or running red lights,,,,does that mean I will be rewarding them? NO THANKYOU ,,,,,,

October 15 at 2:28pm

15. Lindy Osha McQueen good point...imagine if this person just done a home invasion and we end up in time giving him a lot of money.

October 15 at 3:09pm

16. Kristy Ludlow Those people aren't covered only victims. The innocent people whose lives are left shattered by people's stupidity.

October 15 at 3:15pm

17. Heidi Raynor this is already included in rego

October 15 at 2:54pm

18. Samantha Carol Downs Hell no!

October 15 at 3:39pm

19. Jarred Wilson Nah son

October 15 at 2:41pm

20. Jordan Waterfield Car rego includes third party protection already. That is the money used to compensate accident victims.

Sounds like government double dipping to me.

October 15 at 4:21pm

21. Chris Jackson I was in an accident 18 months ago, and have suffered from whiplash soft tissue injury since. There is money already for victims to a point. There is a threshold of approx $15,000. This means if you get injured and the medical bill for the next 20 years in treating your injury is going to total $22,000 (for arguments sake) you will only get $7k to treat your injury, you have to pay the rest. If your injury is likely to cost $13,000 to treat, you get $0.00.

October 15 at 6:13pm

22. Elly Dee I guarantee none of the stupid current restrictions would change, the extra money would go straight into the government pocket.

October 15 at 8:36pm

23. Mark Malone

October 15 at 2:54pm

24. Meghan Grant I completely agree with you Neenah but please don't assume that everyone involved in an accident is at fault.

I was the victim of a hit and run by a stolen vehicle who lost control and came on the my side of the road. I was stationary waiting to turn when the other car hit me head on. My leg was so deformed I had to be carried with my 15month old from the car while the cars were smoking and some witnesses were trying to chase the culprits on foot. This happened two years ago and I am STILL waiting for compensation for the months I was in hospital, the lifetime I will never walk the same, forever be in pain, my vehicle which was written off and my loss of income during the months I was unable to work. Now at the age of 27, I already have arthritis in my foot, ankle and knee's due to my injuries and a broken screw in my ankle which can't be d but causes a lot of pain when it scrapes against my bone. The person who hit me is currently in jail for this and a long string of other charges and I'm still waiting to be repaid for everything I lost. In saying this though, I ABSOLUTELY DO NOT believe this is the responsibility of other drivers to compensate for those who have been in accidents. The Insurance Commission are slack enough as it is, let alone not being able to budget correctly. I do believe cyclists should pay a registration fee to use the roads so perhaps that will go towards road repairs etc and free up other money for compensation claims. Also if the politicians stop giving themselves pay rises, I'm sure the state government could afford a lot more things that we actually need like education, medical expenses etc

With all the cars on the road who pay registration costs and people who pay taxes, I can't comprehend how the government are that BAD at budgeting! They need to take a harder look at themselves and stop spending money on new buildings we don't need and street art and looks ridiculous and is useless! Only once we get the important things budgeted for can we then spurge on fancy street art and billion dollar buildings. It's common sense really

25. Darlene Watkins What exactly do our governments pay for these days apart from their own excessive unregulated unnecessary spending?????

October 15 at 3:12pm

26. Kallan Beau Watkins Salary increases.....

October 15 at 3:49pm

27. Darlene Watkins Theirs not mine

October 15 at 3:53pm

28. Casie Smith Registration is so expensive as it is that at work day after day I see people struggling to pay their regos which leaves them to having to drive unregistered risking their licences. The government have enough money to afford this motion, plus what's so hard in Australia making its own notes to afford this???

October 15 at 2:20pm

29. Corey Michal There trying to push people to use Public transport

20 hours ago

30. Mykel King No chance, thats what the money from speed cameras and traffic fines are for, cost of living is expensive enough as it is. If i or a relative had an accident i wouldnt expect society to pay for it.

October 15 at 8:11pm

31. Kaitlyn Harvie

October 15 at 5:28pm

32. Julie Deacon Make car insurance compulsory and as stated before this is already included in rego. On a separate issue I would gladly pay an extra $5 to have rego stickers back.

October 15 at 3:46pm

33. James Duggan dont make insurance compulsory, insurance is a scam!

October 15 at 8:32pm

34. Nicki Slade Car insurance has nothing to do with injury via motor vehicle that is 3rd party insurance and it is already compulsory just look at your registration papers

October 15 at 10:04pm

35. Max Randall Shouldn't the compo come from those at fault?

October 15 at 3:15pm

36. Rhian Rees sometimes an accident isn't anyone's fault - i.e. hitting a roo on a country road!

October 15 at 4:13pm

37. Max Randall And that's what insurance is for...

October 15 at 4:21pm

38. Sandy Pants Chapman that's what we pay 3rd party insurance for

October 15 at 3:12pm

39. Lisa Orr I have a hard enough time paying my Rego as it is. If they do that I can guarantee there will be a lot of people driving unregistered cars

October 16 at 1:49am

40. Luke Satie How about use all the money from speed cameras for that? Isn't there millions of dollars in a separate account that's not being used?

October 15 at 6:39pm

41. Michael Smith No... id pay an extra $109 to provide more training to prevent the crash in the first place

October 15 at 5:02pm

42. Kylie Armanasco Hell no!! How about the politicians pay $109 a week from their pay?! Its not like they cant afford it or anything!!
October 15 at 4:17pm
43. Lynn Eisele The money wouldn't go to victims, stinking govt would pocket it. NO.
October 15 at 3:27pm
44. Chris Rundell If they want to reduce road fatalities, they should start by giving out demerits for not giving way, not being able to merge properly and not knowing how to use a round about. Then fix the [REDACTED] roads! Perth roads are crap and not enough is being done to fix them.
October 15 at 3:10pm
45. Jayson Knight Dont we take out insurance so if we do smash it is covered. $109 more for rego does the gov think we have alot of money. Talk about bleeding the working class dry.
October 15 at 3:05pm
46. Kristy Ludlow No your personal insurance only covers damage to vehicles not to people, the cost of personal injury is covered by the third party insurance you pay in your rego.
October 15 at 8:40pm
47. Sara K Cleak Nope that's what insurance is for if you can't afford insurance then DONT DRIVE
October 15 at 2:47pm
48. Nicki Slade Sara you have it wrong you already pay compulsory 3rd party insurance , the government just wants to,slug you another 109 for your rego
October 15 at 10:05pm
49. Sara K Cleak Really gosh y don't they just take everyone's bank account and own it ahhhh bills are getting ridiculous that's it pay days I'm going to the shop and throwing on the floor and saying FREE FOR ALL because I have bigger all after bills anyway
October 15 at 10:17pm
50. Andrew Neagu how about the WA government learns to properly spend the millions of $$ they have allocated to the road trauma fund, instead of wasting it on expensive lunches and so on?
<http://www.perthnow.com.au/.../story-e6frg14c...>
- Whistleblowers claim Road Safety Trust Fund 'wasted'
A ROAD safety fund, paid for by speeding fines and set up...
perthnow.com.au
October 15 at 7:48pm
51. Sean Thomas McCabe If bike riders are gunna ride in on the road they should pay rego!
October 15 at 6:02pm
52. Caris Witham How about give us a bonus for NOT crashing? That'll never happen!!!!
October 15 at 5:41pm
53. Kc Ramari Vogel No! If someone such as a drunk driver is involved in a fatal incident where someone is killed and they are catastrophically injured then as a community are we not commending their actions by giving them money?
October 15 at 5:07pm

54. Yvonne Illingworth It's already expensive enough to pay for rego,you slap another hundred on and there will be more unlicensed cars on the road than ever before,stop with the never ending increases and give us Aussies a break!

October 15 at 5:05pm

55. Liana Lee James-Holl Nooooo!if you can afford a car,get insurance!

October 15 at 4:37pm

56. Christopher 'Fletty' Flett Why not incompetent drivers off thr road

October 15 at 4:19pm

57. Adam Berryman Will they get it I mean we pay for decent roads and they dont do that unless your in the city... our country roads are horrible

October 15 at 2:23pm

58. Jamie Robins No! They need to fix the pot holes with the money we already give them This is a brand new tyre after I hit a pot hole $220 down the drain.. Lucky it didn't just explode and make me crash

October 16 at 2:54am

59. Natalie Euphémie-Turnbull Maybe there could be a good driver reward system. Those who drive safely & don't incur fines, don't have to pay the extra $109 on their car registration. Those who incur fines & drive dangerously on our roads have to pay an extra $109, seeing that they're a dangerous liability on our roads. & If a 'bad' driver doesn't have a car registered in their name, they have to pay more to renew their license.

October 16 at 1:04am

60. Marilyn Krogh No. It is the responsibility of the person causing the injury. In fact fully comprehensive insurance should be a legal requirement of ALL drivers

October 15 at 10:09pm

61. Simon Grant Why dont they just take it out of what we already pay

October 15 at 9:03pm

62. Lesley Cole Colin Barnett was on the radio two days ago and basically said we are all well paid and if we cant meet paying our bills on time, pay school excursions and buy food etc. we are living beyond our means. He may be able to afford another $109 but I know there will be many who will suffer. This is just another greedy government way of taking what we work long and hard for.

October 15 at 8:00pm

63. Jeff Slattery He also said we don't need air cons when he raised power bills then we had a heat wave.

October 15 at 8:50pm

64. Jordan Loxton-Ram How about we pay the politicians in bananas because they behave like monkeys and use their wages as compensation for road crash victims? Problem solved.

October 15 at 7:26pm

65. Sean Patrick Murphy ^^ hit 3 times? Perhaps you should be more conscious of your surroundings rather than relying on other people following road rules as we know they do not. Use some common sense

October 15 at 4:28pm

66. Courtney-Evelyn Kean No, why should we? That's what insurance is for

October 15 at 4:22pm · Edited

67. Sarah Emery Try having your life destroyed by someone else smashing into you. There is so much i cannot do and will have to live with this chronic pain for the rest of my life. Whilst i do not agree with the amount....i do think people need to be a bit more sympathetic for the VICTIMS. Three times i have been hit....three times left with permanent back and neck injuries. Completely not my fault yet i now pay the price..... I think paying that on top is ridiculous. Would be far more effective if ICWA had an overhaul and they stopped putting people who are genuinely injured through such a drawn out, stressful, upsetting process. Ruined for the genuinely injured by sick greedy people who take the piss!!

October 15 at 4:21pm

68. Kristy Ludlow Exactly! Well said, I broke my back in 1991, plus both my legs, had a spinal fusion. Learnt to walk again, 18 mths later broke my back again higher up. Neither was my fault, didn't even have my licence yet. The [REDACTED] ICWA put genuine people through was ridiculous. As was the final payment in terms of the life I now have. But what doesn't kill us makes is stronger. People need to think about the fact it maybe $100 now but if you need that money it could be hundreds of thousands for medical bills alone

October 15 at 5:16pm

69. Graeme Dawson Already do, it called the 3rd party insurance, duh

October 15 at 4:15pm

70. Lisa Robinson No way!! ENOUGH WITH YHE REVENUE RAISING!!! We pay enough for gods sake!!!

October 15 at 3:41pm

71. Shayna Rose No! If you have a car and don't already have at least third party insurance, you shouldn't be on the road! Why should everyone else who is most likely comprehensively insured pay for extra insurance to compensate for those too silly to insure themselves.

October 15 at 3:34pm

72. Sharna Sokor Hell no! We already pay way too much as it is and Metro pay even more... And our roads are still shocking! It's so disappointing!!

October 16 at 3:24am

73. Tegan Broadwood

October 15 at 10:45pm

74. Shane Short Clive: you pay third party incase you, or someone else gets seriously injured. As someone who ended up with over 130k in medical expenses from a traffic accident I was a passenger in, I am beyond grateful we have compulsory third party.

Is the money worth it if you were walking along the road and get cleaned up by someone and end up in hospital? I'd think so.

October 15 at 10:12pm

75. Venessa Sutterby Just got mine in the mail today! Now over $700 to register your car! And you want us to pay more!!! No wonder there are so many people out there driving unregistered cars!!! Ridiculous!!!!

October 15 at 9:47pm

76. Julie Pitcher No. Barnett is just trying to make things a lot easier for people to vote him out the next election. He doesn't have to worry about that then!!!!
October 15 at 8:10pm
77. Reece Booth Thats an extra $436 for us!!
October 15 at 7:32pm
78. Kya Humphreys No! For one I can't afford rego as it is. And Secondly we already pay compulsory third party, some pay extra for comprehensive insurance and we all pay taxes. Geez I'll be living on the street soon!
October 15 at 6:52pm
79. Zane Bennett Im armish...and im always falling off my horse...I think this is a great idea
October 15 at 6:03pm
80. Mathew Wilson I already pay enough in getting yellow stickers of my car
October 15 at 6:00pm
81. Melissa Ahlquist Don't we already pay for this as part of the compulsory insurance on our rego??
October 15 at 5:46pm
82. Natalie Chilvers Nope make insurance compulsory on all vehicles
October 15 at 5:32pm
83. James Joyce Can barely afford mine as it is.. I broke my back 2 years ago and can't work... why should I pay my $109 to someone who can't work when I'm in the same boat...
October 15 at 5:28pm
84. Ali N Han Nope! Rego prices are hideous! I thought compo for victims was meant to come out of fines revenue eg hoon driving fines etc!! I'm sure there is already a fund
October 15 at 4:55pm
85. Ebs Henthorn Start charging bikes a road user fee annually
October 15 at 4:47pm
86. Brian Maloney Why's everyone saying bike riders should pay rego? I think you'll find a majority of bike riders already own cars and pay rego. Just because people are too lazy to ride a bike and take advantage of the cycle paths!
I think we pay too much as it is and don't get much in return. Look how long it took for main roads to try and fix the congestion on our freeways, which is still a friggin shambles.
In this day in age we're just forever paying for lazy people who can't be bothered doing the right thing. Lining the rich people's pockets and paying for the irresponsible bludgers who think they deserve everything for nothing.
October 15 at 4:29pm
87. Mark N Jen Clegg I believe it sounds good in theory... But honestly If your at fault In an accident - especially if its negligent (ie. distracted, intoxicated,etc.) you should cop all costs including medical costs. It should not be left to all Australian drivers most of whom do the right thing whilst driving and have never had an accident
October 15 at 4:01pm
88. Sammie Clark No and that not being mean towards victims, but it's hard for family's to afford much more now days.
October 15 at 3:59pm
89. Christine Cory No. We pay a monthly premium for insurance to cover us incase of injury and we are out of work. Why should we be further out of pocket for someone else when we barely have enough after all our other bills.
October 15 at 3:27pm
90. Liz Reynolds I can't afford the rego now!
October 15 at 2:42pm

91. Sam Nugent Barrett Yep same with us
October 15 at 3:13pm
92. Joe Joe Howard No!!! Why should we pay for other peoples mistakes..... its hard enough being single with two kids I can't afford another $109 on top its just silly where is all the money everyone is paying already... of coarse to other country's to support them.... silly silly government... we should think of Australians before funding everyone out of Australia capital...
October 16 at 9:47pm
93. Ken Hockey Hasn't anyone noticed? GOING to put it up $100? They already have! I just got my registration - the "Private" used to be $100 cheaper than "Business" - mine is now within $10!!!!!!!!!!!!!! Last year Priv/Bus was $568/$658 - this year renewal is $661/$679. So they have virtually abolished the "Private" rate - as they are now within $20 of each other. How much money does this money grabbing govt need? It's ridiculous!!!!!!!!!!
October 16 at 3:10am
94. Dave Ball Barnet,double dipping
October 16 at 2:09am
95. Jaison Bairstow shouldn't whoever is at fault be paying compensation?? I'm pretty sure that's the way it works. Why penalise the rest of us who haven't caused injury to anyone?
October 15 at 7:40pm
96. Robert Binsiar No way, I thought that we already paid a 3rd party insurance when we license the car every 6/12 months. Get your hands out of my pockets!!
October 15 at 7:13pm
97. Irene Tunbridge McAuliffe No I have to take care while driving & some of those idiots need to as well .
October 15 at 7:10pm
98. Tim Vanschuilenburg We only just had $60 this yr added to our registration this yr, no way am I willing to pay another $100 because other ppl have no clue when it comes to driving, I've had my license nealy 10yrs now never had a major accident. The politician and cops keep puting up fines on out roads to raise revenue not to bring road trauma down, the setup to get ur licence in the first place is a joke! Basicaly u a taught to indicate and that it. The hazard perception is just plain stupid u sit in front of a screen and click a mouse when u think there Is hazard. There is nothing in place to teach young drivers how to actually control a car in different situation. Pretty sure in Switzerland u need to be able to powerslide around a corner before geting ur license
October 15 at 7:07pm
99. Brad Templeton I pay 40g tax a year NO
October 15 at 7:01pm
100. Chris Johnson I bet they wouldn't get the 109 bucks even if we agreed. How much money does this government want to squeeze out of us now?
October 15 at 6:49pm
101. Tracy Kearney No thank you. How bout the pollies take a pay cut and that would save all the financial problems this country is facing. Make insurance. All the people that do the right thing are the ones that get punished whilst the people that do the wrong thing keep on winning. Stop punishing the people that do the right thing!!
October 15 at 6:45pm
102. Melissa Hendrie As a uni student I find it hard enough to pay my bills anyway. Compensation should be already covered in the budget. If not how bout using the money from all traffic infringements. That way the people who are likely to cause the crashes are paying the compensation and that money is not going into the pollies pockets.
October 15 at 6:27pm

103. Cathy-Lee Everett Can't afford that ontop of the already expensive [REDACTED] just increased rego!!! We already pay for that it's just another way to scam money out of us!
October 15 at 6:25pm
104. Don Walker Rego just went up $125 last year. We aren't all made of money Barnett.
October 15 at 6:17pm
105. Jason Soulos No too many idiot drivers on the road
October 15 at 6:15pm
106. Darren Morris No way, take it out of your revenue raising cameras and increased fines that is what that's supposed to be for you oxygen thieves
October 15 at 6:03pm
107. Nicole Lucas how much more can govt go after the average households? there is a breaking point... how far are they going to push it???
October 15 at 5:47pm
108. Emma Azzalini Oh my god stop it!!! Well all be living under bridges soon!
October 15 at 5:29pm
109. Lyn Hunt No way . Think about the people who already struggle to licence their vehicles . It's dear enough
October 15 at 5:25pm
110. Cat Threadgold Are you serious! Our registration fees are already way higher than US and other countries. And what about the fact that some people in car crashes were injured because of their own irresponsibility? There's way too much provided in Australia for those with a bludging attitude. Then for those who consistently get up, work hard and act responsibly is the extra burden of paying the way for those people. It is messed up, we already have too many bone idle citizens here.
October 15 at 5:21pm
111. Hoani Tumoana No
October 15 at 5:17pm
112. Boris A Yelash Next people will be crashing just to make a buck
October 15 at 5:13pm
113. Molly Goss No way! We pay enough as it is!
October 15 at 5:11pm
114. Kieran Duggan No
October 15 at 4:47pm
115. Janine Parker Brigitte Liz Kasteel police do a lot each and every day and their mental health is probably at greater risk than the driver. Imagine what our emergency services see daily?? Police also do not receive "commission" for pulling over drivers!! Speeding fines go into a road safety fund. This fund at present has a huge amount of funds sitting in it and not being spent. It is controlled by our government not our police! So apart from calling someone an idiot what exactly is ypur point?
October 15 at 4:28pm
116. Jess Smith Nope!!!! I'm a single mum struggling to pay my bills as it is let paying extra!
October 15 at 4:20pm
117. Brian Campbell An extra $109, no I [REDACTED] would not.
October 15 at 4:17pm

118. Dikkie Dyke Ballantyne We already pay that... It's called 3rd party!!!

October 15 at 4:14pm

119. Kristy Ludlow Do people actually know that you already pay third party insurance on your licence? Do you realise that it is not to cover the driver of a vehicle but passengers or other innocent victims? Do you realise if you are involved in an accident the costs involved in medical treatment alone? 23 years ago I was abused by my friends because I was claiming TP insurance from a so called friend who was driving and crashed into a tree. I was 17 at the time, I broke almost every bone from my feet to my lower spine. I spent 31/2 months in Shenton park, numerous surgeries scans every week. Physio every day. OT every day. I had to learn to walk again, but I was the lucky one, all my expenses were covered because people pay their rego. A few of the other patients were drivers, they were responsible for their own costs. Yes I did get a lump sum payment but 23 years ago, it wasn't much at all. It certainly will never be enough to pay back the pain I am suffering, the things I can no longer enjoy, the things I can't do with my kids. But I am thankful everyday that there is insurance to help people who had no choice in their fate. Before you say No I wouldn't pay, think about it, if that was you who was injured would you claim?? I pay everyday because of someone else's mistake. But thankfully I didn't have the extra stress of the financial burden too.

October 15 at 4:13pm

120. Sarah Harcourt Sorry to hear that. Yes I know we already pay...but it is kinda sad how we have to pay for someone else's mistakes..

October 15 at 4:19pm

121. Karla Maree

October 15 at 4:13pm

122. Jayde Hope Try paying rego in Sydney. It's almost $1000 for a small sedan. They don't do 3rd party with the rego it's on top. So it's 450 for rego and 500 for 3rd party through an insurance company. Then normal insurance on top. Plus your car has to be inspected every year $35 prior to allowing it to be registered.

October 15 at 4:13pm

123. Paulette Terese Arthur We're western Australian please don't complain to us about high costs of living!

October 15 at 4:24pm

124. Jayde Hope I'm from WA. Hence the comment. I'm fully aware of the cost of living v Sydney. My point was the cost of registration and what will happen if the government doesn't regulate the way it does now.

October 15 at 5:41pm

125. Amanda Jane Hart 109 on top of the 300+ people pay now would be insane

October 15 at 4:13pm

126. Rhian Rees most people are struggling to pay their car rego as it is, if the cost is hiked then all that will happen is there will be more unregistered uninsured drivers on the road - how is this helpful????

October 15 at 4:12pm

127. Dave Rees Why should we pay for their idiotic driving and their misfortunes???

October 15 at 5:26pm

128. Anita Beattie No, rego to expensive now
October 15 at 4:11pm
129. Matthew John Brinkworth No no I don't want to pay that
October 15 at 4:08pm
130. David Beckx Absolutely not!!!...where does all our tax money go?. And money from the cash cameras!!!
October 15 at 4:08pm
131. Ricki Walters No. I can barely afford my rego now!
October 15 at 4:07pm
132. Brigitte Liz Kasteel Nope. As much as people like to help people. You have to help yourself first. And not only that, drunk driver seriously injured in crash- do they get help? I would hope not. They put themselves there.
October 15 at 4:01pm
133. Susi Gane That's what we already pay for with third party insurance and car insurance on top
October 15 at 3:59pm
134. Kristy Trouchet Nope
October 15 at 3:54pm
135. Cheri Hodgson How about the G man (government) pay to cover the victims maybe then when our leaders are accountable for the tragedies they might actually spend money on investing compulsory defensive driving courses for all drivers especially seeing as its the licensing centre passing people on their driving skills, allowing immature young drivers to get their license in first place, young people drive ridiculously powerful cars, foreigners who aren't familiar with road rules and there are way too many people passing who stuff up their tests in first place. Companies have a duty of care and get sued all the time maybe someone should sue the G man!
October 15 at 3:51pm
136. Callan McNamara No
October 15 at 3:49pm
137. Shaun Rickard Oh they want us to cough up more money? We, the workers that keep australia going are always coughing up. How about the government stops giving our money away to other countries and the politicians take a pay cut, they get paid a ridiculous amount to dribble nonsense..
October 15 at 3:48pm
138. Kim Knight that is crap the government sure know how to make people feel worse wen there tryin to make ends meet n keep food on the table n keep a roof ova there families all they do is take take take
October 15 at 3:33pm
139. Mahera Rawhiti Em Bowman - Comprehensive only covers damage to property e.g car vs car or car vs house but not anyone who is injured in an incident so that wouldn't work
October 15 at 3:32pm
140. Katie Fong Ummm we already pay 3rd party insurance this is what is for, why are we being asked to pay more?
October 15 at 3:31pm
141. Reece Corich Not a chance. I have a hard enough time paying for ever increasing bills now.
October 15 at 3:26pm
142. Sarah Lock Don't we already pay to cover such things? that is what the third party portion is for.
October 15 at 3:16pm

143. Mahera Rawhiti If your talking about Compulsory Third Part Personal Injury Insurance then I think it's already included but I think the price should be increased due to more freak accidents that are occurring and it should be extended to also protect the "At-Fault" driver as well as "At-fault Drivers" have no protection under the current system.
October 15 at 3:12pm
144. Shifty Xr Why should the "at fault" driver get any protection
October 15 at 3:18pm
145. Erin Fynn No. It's already so expensive. Perhaps if the fees were dropped it would be more affordable. But we already pay to buy a vehicle, then to keep it running, then we pay for the government to allow us to drive it. Unfortunately we can't all afford to pay to support other people especially with the gst on everything our wages getting taxed higher every year and bills being increased every six months. We already struggle to get by week by week what more can be expected from our hard working citizens? Maybe hospitals should drop their expensive fees or the government could forfeit part of their incomes to help....after all they don't pay for their vehicles or fees or fuel or servicing! !!

October 15 at 4:16pm

159. Debs Andromeda Hallback-Benedetto Why constantly ask us to keep paying for everything when our own pays never get compensated?? Price of oil is coming down and price of petrol is coming down in every other State but WA, and here we are asked to fork out more money for people when we are struggling ourselves to stay afloat?? No offence to road traffic victims at all, but the person responsible should be paying out, depending on circumstances that is. Start looking after the people before asking the people to look after everyone else!!

Why is the public always suffering. Hiw about take some money from our poloticians since they get to have pay rises when they see fit

October 16 at 5:54pm

165. Johnny Young Why don't we pay for the km usage instead. I have a few cars to myself, and pay the standard rego. One of my cars would be lucky to do 1000km a year, there would be plenty of other blokes in this same position. Isn't there enough revenue raised from speed cameras?

October 16 at 3:11pm

166. Ben Pelham Just share the roads. You don't own them. Share them, with motorists, cyclists and pedestrians. Drop your egos and share. Aussie drivers could learn a lot from overseas

October 16 at 6:19am

169. Johnny Ballza No cause it won't go to them most of it will end up in some politicians pocket

October 16 at 5:38am

October 16 at 1:44am

178. Paul Burt As I understand it the proposal relates to those who cause a crash, not to the victims of it. However, I guess you could also be a victim if you were merely a passenger in a car driven by the person who caused the crash, along with the people in the other vehicle. Otherwise, if this is going to provide compensation for those who cause the crashes then no prizes for guessing what my response would be; especially if they were doing something obviously irresponsible and stupid like drunk driving or texting on their mobile phone while driving. Even more so for the dangerous idiots who steal cars and then crash while trying to get away from the Police. I'd have a similar response for a burglar who breaks into my house, cuts himself badly on the broken glass of the window he smashes and then expects compensation for that. You gotta be joking, mate, no ufcking way!

I'd like to see our pays increase in line with the ever rising cost of living or see the pollies take a pay cut. I do believe the cyclists on the road should be registered the same as any vehicles, we all share the roads.

189. Mat Court That depends, as long as I know my money is going towards the innocent victims and not to the person responsible for the crash eg: drivers under the influence of drugs or alcohol, they shouldn't be compensated they should take responsibility for their stupid actions OR they should pay compensation towards the innocent victim and to themselves. Other people shouldn't have to be in more debt because someone decided to drive drunk.

280. Andrea Ledbury The minute we decide to step out on the road or drive a car, ride a bike etc. we are accepting risks. Accidents are accidents this is why we have insurance. If there was an accident due to someone breaking the law or someone deliberately being neglectful then that person should be responsible for compensation. If you can't accept the risks don't drive or ride. Also that person who had multiple major accidents, I don't know the details but sometimes we all have to look at what we are doing to be in this same situation over and over again.

October 15 at 4:40pm

281. Jasmin Brown [REDACTED] no!!

October 15 at 4:40pm

282. Daniel Johns

October 15 at 4:40pm

283. Rob Webb Hell no

October 15 at 4:40pm

284. Amanda Miller Nope!

October 15 at 4:39pm

285. Mark Barrell Unbelievable put the cameras in true hotspots and start pulling goons off the road who cause this carnage..... We don't have a police force we have a sleep force

October 15 at 4:38pm

286. Bryan Reyes No

October 15 at 4:38pm

287. Michael Cowie They hit us hard enough now with the car regos. The government need to spend less on there "legacies" and there salaries and more on the country itself

October 15 at 4:38pm

288. Amanda Jackson So the hard working people aren't paying for enough already?

Now they want us to cover stupid people who choose to do the wrong thing?

Rego is already hard enough to pay (by almost everyone it appears) and now you want to tack a few more dollars on....How about the politicians coming up with these beaut ideas take a pay cut to cover the cost?

If the Government keeps TAKING you're going to have a lot of people driving with no rego/ stealing to put food on the table and people losing their homes! Idiots!

October 15 at 4:35pm

289. Tealah Turbett Why should we pay for the idiots who cause crashes ?

October 15 at 4:35pm

290. Peter Pham Nam Tran

October 15 at 4:30pm

291. Larissa Rissa No! Leave me alone!!

October 15 at 4:26pm

292. Mahera Rawhiti Kristy Ludlow and you are the reason I always pay my rego.

I'm a Learner Driver, I pay rego, I have Comprehensive insurance, I'm a single mum with two kids, I pay taxes and Yes times are tough and things are expensive BUT I know that the amount we pay in Rego is not enough compared to the innocent people getting hurt (which could potentially be with my car) I wouldn't care if the price went up as long as I know it covers people like you.....and also if anything happened to my kids while walking to school. The payout may not last a life time but it would definitely help in worst case situations

October 15 at 4:23pm

293. Kristy Ludlow I was a lucky one the girls I was with didn't walk out, but their families didn't have the extra stress of the financial burden. Thank you

October 15 at 4:33pm

294. Melissa Wilson Nope. The cyclists can start paying rego for their bicycles!!!

October 15 at 4:19pm

295. Christopher 'Fletty' Flett Not a [REDACTED] chance

October 15 at 4:19pm

296. Sarah Harcourt No. People should be a lot more patient when driving. 9 times out of 10 the accidents can be avoided... we shouldn't be responsible paying for some that just wanted to check their performance of their car against someone else's.

October 15 at 4:16pm

297. Khaila N Clayton Ralph No I can't afford to pay my car rego as it is.

October 15 at 4:13pm

298. Emily Moulton No! Families are already struggling with the burden of rising utility bills and now they want us to pay $100 extra a year on our registration? I don't think so!

October 15 at 4:10pm

299. Barb Ryan It's compensation people not paying for someone's car insurance! It's to help those recover from road trauma accidents. I think this proposal needs to be allocated to the government. Particularly if you are not at fault!

October 15 at 4:09pm

300. Chris Capes No! It's already stupidly high

October 15 at 4:04pm

301. James Brown No that's what insurance is for and we pay well and truly enough tax as is were already getting ripped off

October 15 at 4:03pm

302. Kayty Pillen No way!! I pay a hell of a lot for my insurance and rego because I drive a ute and it's classed as a trade vehicle. Not happy at all to slap another cost on top of that. How the hell are those of us trying to get into the property market supposed to do so when the government keeps slamming up with more taxes and expenses while upping their own income?

October 15 at 4:01pm

303. Ash Forrest No way that's what insurances are for! Most households are already paying 2 lots of Regos as it plus if they have boats, caravans, trailers, motorbikes etc that also need rego. This is becoming a joke the homeless population is just gonna go up and up if the government keeps taking, taking, taking..the wages don't seem to be increasing to match the increases of everything else! October 15 at 3:59pm

304. Mahera Rawhiti Daniel Wells - what type of insurance? Comprehensive - covers damages to yours and other people's property Compulsory Third Party (included in rego) - Covers injuries that you may cause to others with your vehicle But nothing for the Driver?

October 15 at 3:58pm

305. Jemma Jemmy Jem No!!! It's already so expensive!

October 15 at 3:55pm

306. Jag Singh

October 15 at 3:53pm

307. Bec Cameron Yep, if I was left crippled or worse it would be a good idea but everyone needs to be on the same page. None of this I don't have insurance crap.

October 15 at 3:50pm

308. Lili Hatab I don't think soooooo!!!!!!!

October 15 at 3:46pm

309. Mahera Rawhiti Shifty Taylor - I think that if the "At-Fault" driver is willing to pay then he should be entitled to protect himself. There are many cases where we have people driving who may have heart conditions or epilepsy that don't know what's going to happen or when. So if you had a heart attack or stroke and crashed in to a brick wall, wouldn't you want funds for your injuries? Or a Kangaroo jumps out on the road & you swerve in to a tree to miss it, it may lead to quadriplegia.....you as the driver are still "At-Fault" cos your not gonna win a court case against a Kangaroo or get money out of them. So wouldn't you want funds to help you if you were in that scenario?

313. Christine Denton ... no!!! This government is off it heads. ...ness...

October 15 at 3:41pm

314. Fred Smoker The government needs to stop putting their hand in pockets of average working Australians and bleeding us dry.

October 15 at 3:39pm

315. Michael Kelly No

October 15 at 3:36pm

316. Meagan Hitchcock No. I just received my latest one and I was in shock by the current cost. An extra $109 is just crazy. October 15 at 3:34pm

317. Rels Johnson People are struggling to pay their bills atm, how ridiculous to make us pay more. Perhaps if the fat cats in parliament stopped wasting so much then there wld be more for victims of ANYTHING, not just road crash

October 15 at 3:32pm

318. Shane Jordan No way if we pay now give it a few more years and it will be something else

October 15 at 3:28pm

319. Timothy Brockhoff I think that anyone entering the country on an international license should have to undergo the same licensing structure that we all had to go through to learn how to drive on Australian roads. A CAR DOES NOT DRIVE WITHOUT A DRIVER, THAT BEING SAID IT IS COMPLETELY UP TO THE DRIVER OF THAT VEHICLE TO BE HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR WHAT HE/HER DO IN THAT VEHICLE...

October 15 at 3:28pm

320. Richard Knight no way, we already pay CTP insurance for that.

October 15 at 3:23pm

337. Ollie Tol no way! I am not paying to fix other peoples mistakes!!
October 15 at 2:53pm
338. Duncan Cooke Absolutely not! No! Niet! Non! Nein! Your actions have consequences, face up to them yourself. If your actions are stupid ones, (in this case, speeding, running lights, harassing other drivers, racing etc.) the results will probably be harsh. It's not for me and everyone else to give you a cuddle, hand you a wad of notes and tell you it's OK. The hoons already feel nothing can touch them, doing this will just reinforce that.
October 15 at 2:53pm
339. Connie Radecker No I'm sorry It just never ends

343. Greg Porter Yep I would. If it works like the Victorian TAC model. In Victoria even if you are at fault it covers you for injury to yourself and others covers all costs for treatment and rehab. October 16 at 11:20pm

364. Sebastian Veneziano NO. Absolutely NO. Also the government should stop charging GST & STAMP DUTY on car licence. In addition they should widen the roads with the increase in population and vehicles in circulation in place to reduce them creating congestion.

It is impossible in some streets to leave one meter of space with cyclists who are travelling themselves at one meter from the edge of the road.

In the end, cyclists should be banned to ride side by side unless the road is closed to traffic, and they MUST follow the basic rules like STOPPING at the Stop sign, STOPPING at Red Light, Give way and reducing their speed when going through roundabout or downhill.

October 16 at 6:12am

October 16 at 6:01am

377. Jeff Davey how about a big cool glass of hells no? bring in the idea of personal responsibility. if you hit someone, you either have insurance to cover it or you pay. someone walks out in front of you, they pay for damage to your car. person in the wrong should pay, we shouldn't be covering up stupidity with money from law abiding road users.

October 16 at 5:58am

378. Theresa Simpson Isn't this called third party & is already included in our Rego? Also agree cyclists should pay rego and be identifiable in case they cause an accident running red lights etc

October 15 at 4:46pm
679. David Andersen Hell no
October 15 at 4:46pm
680. Emma Mellado You should NEVER reach into someone else's wallet in compensation for someone's lesson not learned. They'll never learn if they can take advantage of the situation. Take a look at a lot of government welfare recipients. There are a heap of them I know personally who keep having kids to gain more welfare, and some that have it just because they can't be bothered finding jobs.
October 15 at 4:45pm

October 15 at 4:36pm
694. Vanessa Fogliani And how we supposed to afford more! Increases in gas elec water rates n now this with no increase in wages!
October 15 at 4:35pm

695. Marianela Luckens I know right! They should provide some sort of insurance for those that want to ride their bikes on the roads. Rego for bikes is a bit retarded but insurance will provide compensation for victims

701. Dawn Solomon No
October 15 at 4:31pm
702. Tracy Norris No
October 15 at 4:28pm
703. Mark Jennings Next will be road tolls and pay per km. Then more people will rely on public transport so they will put fairs up because they need more buses and trains. No win situation with a government spending money they don't have. If purely that extra money was going too what they say it is I wouldn't mind as much but let's be honest will it???? They're got millions sitting in the bank from the speed cameras, why not use that money.
October 15 at 4:28pm
704. Victoria Keswell Cant afford it single mum
October 15 at 4:27pm
705. Nola Holden No, I think everybody should have 3rd party fire and theft insurance before they drive a car justlike in other countries

711. Jayme Ward Best No
October 15 at 4:25pm

712. Sean Patrick Murphy No! How about they use all the revenue from speed cameras!! Surely that would be a good idea instead of simply buying more speed cameras and not repairing roads as they claim they use the money for.... My thoughts are all those polies on their nice pensions and fat salaries is where the money actually goes...

718. Natalie Knight Make the bike riders pay and register there bikes the sames as cars if they want to ride on the road
October 15 at 4:23pm
719. Janine Parker Brigitte Liz Kasteel, police do not get "commissions" for pulling over cars! Speeding fines etc go into a safety roads fund. Currently there is a massive amount of money sitting in this saety roads fund not being spent which the government has control over...not the police! When there are accidents not only the driver suffers emotional trauma...imagine the emergency service workers such as police and ambos must witness. So other than calling someone an idiot what is your point?

724. Kara Ringland No families are doing it hard enough . It's about time people took responsibility for them selves and not expect others to bail them out ever time something goes wrong
October 15 at 4:19pm
725. Sarah Butler Nope. They keep hiking up rego (along with every other household bill families can't really avoid) and many families are struggling to make that. Plus it depends on what you'd refer to as a road crash victim as see a lot of fools doing stupid things in their cars (not all, but a lot) and I wouldn't be the slightest bit interested in paying for them. And if they cause an accident they should be responsible for compensating their victim/s

Maybe you should start asking if the families of people who are losing loved ones in this forced act of war will get compensation from that war monger first! We are after all talking billions of Australian tax dollars being wasted! 883. Corey Reimers No way cyclists should have to pay rego on their bikes if they wanna be on our roads! It would stop alot of them being on the road if we did that and that would also make the government more money doing that to cyclists so if they want to make money and roads a better place charge them if a car needs to pay rego so should they

October 15 at 6:42pm

884. Megan Foley No Way..MAKE BIKE RIDERS PAY REGO..IF WE HIT A PUSH BIKE RIDER WHILE DRIVING A CAR, OUR THIRD PARTY PAYS FOR IT.. THEY USE THE ROADS AND THINK THEY OWN THEM..MAKE EM PAY TOO!!

October 15 at 6:17pm

885. Bett Hockley No, it's hard enough to pay as it is, & some people don't [REDACTED] deserve it, like Hoons, drunk or stoned drivers

October 15 at 5:03pm

886. Stephen Lankford Sack the lot of them now before they tax us out of existence

October 15 at 4:56pm

887. Michelle Zacharko No, we are already paying that on our rego. Stop with the money grabbing to pay for your pointless monuments

October 15 at 4:54pm

888. Michelle Bryant No it's already included

October 15 at 4:50pm

889. Adrian Jones What does the current 3rd party rego insurance cover?

October 15 at 4:33pm

890. Adrian Jones I always thort they make enough revenue from traffic infringements especially with the number of speed cameras

October 15 at 4:33pm

891. Heidi Mutten

October 15 at 4:16pm

892. Luke Reimers What, you can't get that out of the 700/year I already pay??

October 15 at 4:07pm

893. Aj Lukatelich No. That's what life and TPD insurance is for. Their accident and lack of insurance is not my problem.

895. Phil Etheve-Grills No [REDACTED] way
October 15 at 3:01pm
896. Joanne Brand People are finding it hard to survive with the costs of living now. More fees would continue hardships of families struggling to pay everyday bills already. So sorry... No. The government can pay with all the new increases in fines for breaking the road laws.
October 15 at 2:35pm
897. Nick Sayers Don't we pay insurance for accidents!
October 15 at 2:24pm
898. Nicola Brander No
October 15 at 2:24pm
899. Donna Kingston Lewis We already pay towards having good roads. Now we would have less accidents if people drove more responsible. Maybe the driver at fault should pay the compensation
October 15 at 2:18pm
900. Lisa Farrall No. Agree with Michelle Bryant. We already pay it. You can take money from the scum who steal cars & injure people or damage property.
October 15 at 4:57pm
901. Pete Moss Why doesnt the government use revenue from speed cameras to pay for road trauma victims ??
October 15 at 3:41pm
902. Aneira May How about stop spending millions on new entertainment centres, quays, foot stadiums and use that cash. Also, not to be rude, but why do road crash victims get compo from the government? Should the person who caused the accident or their insurance pay for that?
October 15 at 3:30pm
903. Darral Paul Phillips That's right we already pay for it

October 15 at 6:35pm
913. Michael Pearson Here is a concept make the rich pay the same tax as me. I have no issue with companies or the rich earnings but I do have a problem with the amount of tax they pay on it. Already pay to much rego. Not a bloody chance. It would probably just go to build another silly monument for the rich like Elizabeth Keys.
October 15 at 6:25pm
914. Bernie Ryan Noooo
October 15 at 5:49pm
915. Denisia Booger Nope!!! If there is more increased as it is we have to get rid of our cars and be unemployed. Me and my husband is already broke. We dont have kids and we both work full time. October 15 at 3:20pm
930. Em Bowman I think that fully comp insurance should be made compulsory instead and u have to show proof of this to get ur Rego. This would cover compensation for road crash victims but this would also increase insurance claims on minor accidents on people claiming for very minor things and Australia will end up like the USA or the UK with the suing mentality

October 16 at 5:07pm
938. El Intelekt This is actually far to complex an issue for a simple yes or no answer. How about our government stops cutting costs in every field but the military and police, and pulls their own █████ weight.
