

Workers' Compensation Capped Weekly Rate.

Key Points

WorkCover have published the Indexation of Workers' Compensation Payments 2019/20 Schedule that lists the prescribed amount and other entitlements to apply from 1 July 2019.

WorkCover have advised that there will be a reduction in the capped weekly rate of pay to $2619.70 per week.

The capped amount for weekly earnings is set and adjusted each financial year in accordance with the Worker's Compensation & Injury Management Act 1981 and published by WorkCover WA. It is based on movements in Average Weekly Earnings for WA over the preceding year published by the Australian Bureau of Statistics.

RiskCover will be applying the reduction to those workers currently receiving above $2619.70 per week in weekly payments.

RiskCover will be contacting all injured workers' affected by the reduction to advise them of the change to their weekly rate of pay, effective as of 1 July 2019. Claim specific correspondence will also be forwarded to the relevant agency to allow for the necessary changes to be made by the payroll section.

If you have any queries in regards to the weekly capped rate please contact your Workers' Compensation Team Leader to discuss further.

- As of 1 July 2019 the capped weekly rate will be reduced to $2619.70 per week.
- Agencies will be required to make the necessary adjustments to the pay of the injured workers impacted.
- Claim specific correspondence will be forwarded to the affected injured worker and agency.
- Contact your Workers' Compensation Team Leader if further clarification is required.

Address

Postal Address

RiskCover

Phone

Freecall: